

DOCUMENT AND INFORMATION CHECKLIST

No matter where you are in the benefits investigation process—whether it's submitting a prior authorization or appealing a claim denial—here is the information we suggest keeping on hand.

ICD-10 Code D84.1

Lab tests confirming HAE diagnosis

Patient's family medical history

Attack history and relevant characteristics (eg, location and frequency)

HAE-related hospitalizations, ER visits, and intubations

Treatments (both current and previous)

Pictures are worth 1,000 words

Including photos of your patient's attacks may help payers understand the severity and impact of HAE for that patient.

INDICATION

TAKHZYRO is indicated for prophylaxis to prevent attacks of hereditary angioedema (HAE) in patients ≥ 12 years of age.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

Hypersensitivity reactions have been observed. In case of a severe hypersensitivity reaction, discontinue TAKHZYRO administration and institute appropriate treatment.

Please see additional Important Safety Information located on back and full Prescribing Information.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION (cont'd)

Adverse Reactions: The most commonly observed adverse reactions ($\geq 10\%$ and higher than placebo) associated with TAKHZYRO were injection site reactions consisting mainly of pain, erythema, and bruising at the injection site; upper respiratory infection; headache; rash; myalgia; dizziness; and diarrhea. Less common adverse reactions observed included elevated levels of transaminases; one patient discontinued the trial for elevated transaminases.

Use in Specific Populations: The safety and efficacy of TAKHZYRO in pediatric patients <12 years of age have not been established.

No data are available on TAKHZYRO in pregnant women. No data are available on the presence of lanadelumab in human milk or its effects on breastfed infants or milk production.

To report SUSPECTED ADVERSE REACTIONS, contact Dyax Corp., a Takeda company, at 1-800-828-2088, or FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088 or www.fda.gov/medwatch.
